These alterations considerably affect the position of Managing Agents and Directors. "Indian Companies Acts, 1913 to 1936," by Solomon Judah, fully deals with the legal implications of the changes in the law, and contains up-to-date annotations. Mr. Judah is a well-known advocate of the Bombay High Court, and his previous publication "Handbook of Indian Company Law" was well received everywhere and is often referred to in Court by leading counsel. His latest book contains a mass of information of direct interest to lawyers, company promoters and managers, secretaries and auditors.

AHMEDABAD.

Ahmedabad is the principal city of the district and headquarters of Gujarat, Northern Division of the Bombay Province. It is also a military station. It ranks first amongst the cities of Gujarat and is one of the most ancient, historical, picturesque and artistic cities in the Province. It derives its name from King Ahmedshah of Gujarat, who founded the city in the year 1413 A.D. It stands on the raised left bank of the River Sabarmati, about 173 ft. above the mean sea level. It has ancient walls stretching practically all round the city, but as it has latterly developed even beyond the city walls, these walls are being demolished at certain places. The walls enclose an area of more than two square miles and are from 15 to 20 feet in height with 14 gates, with a bastion and a tower at almost every 50 yards. In the early days of its prosperity it is said to have contained a population of about nine lakhs of souls, and so great was its wealth that some of its merchants and traders were believed to have possessed fortunes of not less than a million sterling. During the disorders in the latter part of the 18th century it suffered severely and in 1881, when it came under the British rule, it was greatly depopulated and appeared like a melancholy wreck. But on peace being established, the trade and commerce of the city soon developed and now it has undergone a marked revival, especially since the development of the textile industry. There are about 153 cotton mills and factories in the city. Its population, according to the 1931 census, numbered 3,86,557. It is an important railway junction and has refreshment rooms, with sleeping accommodation at the station.

Ahmedabad is rich in monuments of great architectural merit. There are many places worth seeing, viz., the Kankaria Tank, with the Nagina Vadi in the centre of the tank, founded by King Kutubshah; Sarkhej Mosque; Jumma Masjid; the three historic gates; Mosque of King Ahmedshah and his Begum situated in Manekchowk, the heart of the city; Mosque of Makarba Shah Alam's and Queen Seekari's Mosque; Nar Narayan Devy's temple of the Swaminarayan Sect founded by Shree Shahjanand Swami; Ellis' Bridge; Queen Victoria's Garden and Madhav Bagh; Hatihbha's Vadi, etc.

There are two good hotels in the City—the Grand and the Ritz—which provide both boarding and lodging to those living in European style. There are several lodges and hotels for Hindus and Mahomedans.

There are also several clubs, the leading club open to all classes of men and women being the Gujarat Club situated just behind the District and Sessions Court buildings. There are special clubs for Europeans and Parsees known as European and Parsi Gymkhanas, the Reform Club, the Rajnagar Club, and Merchants' Club, being amongst others. Recreation clubs like the Hindu Gymkhana, Railwaymen's Institute, Postal Union, Baronet Gymkhana and others generally provide a meeting place and afford facilities for games, etc.

MILLS WITH SPINDLES AND LOOMS

INCLUDING AGENTS' NAMES.

There is an association called the Ahmedabad Mill Owners' Association at Lal Darwaja, and it consists of mills and factories within and without the limits of Ahmedabad. There are some mills in Ahmedabad which are not in the Association. Seth Sakarlal Balabhai, M.L.A., is the President of the Association. To avoid labour troubles there is a permanent Board of arbitration consisting of Mr. M. K. Gandhi (representing Labour Union) and Sheth Chimanlal Girdhardas Parekh (representing the Millowners' Association) and in case of difference of opinion between this board a Sur Punch is selected and his decision as well as the Board's decisions are binding on both the Association and Union, and by this mutual arrangement harmonious relations are being maintained between the Employers and the Employees. Mr. B. L. Umarwadia, B.A., LL.B., is the Secretary of the Association.

AHMEDNAGAR.

An important district in the Bombay Deccan, 6,623 square miles, population 988,206. To the North-West and North lies Nasik District. On the North-East the line of the Godavari River separates Ahmednagar from the dominions of H. E. H. the Nizam. On the South-East and South-West lie the district of Sholapur and Poona. Further North the District stretches westwards until it touches Thana. The principal geographical feature of the District is the chain of the Sahyadri hills, the chief river being the Godavari. The bulk of the population belongs to the Maratha race, who are generally cultivators and artificers; but the soil is poor and the District liable to famine for lack of sufficient rain. Ahmednagar, the headquarters of the District, figured prominently in the Duke of Wellington's Indian campaigns. The town itself is unattractive, but there is a fine fort, half a mile to the East of the City. The place where the Duke had his breakfast after capturing the fort in 1803 is marked on the eastern side by an old canon piece surrounded by chains. Some historical relics of the Mahomedan period are found here. One of them is known as the Alamgir's Durga, about two miles on the outskirts of the town. Aurangzebe, the last of the Moghul Emperors, while proceeding to Bagh Rosa 60 miles off, died here and the Durga was erected at the place on which his body was bathed before going further. One full British Regiment, a Regiment of Indian Infantry and Small Arms Mechanisation school are maintained in the Camp in the Sandhurst Barracks and Minto Lines three miles from the city. A Cantonment Board manages the Military and Camp affairs.

Ahmednagar Railway Station is on the Dhond-Manmad line of the G. I. P. Railway. There is a good travellers' bungalow.

BIJAPUR.

A District in the Karnatak in the Southern Division of the Bombay Province with a dry climate, its uncertain rainfall averaging 18 to 22 inches but rich soil. Area 5,707 square miles; population 869,220, majority Lingayats; language spoken, both Kanarese and Marathi but official language, only Kanarese. Kaladgi, a town now in Bagalkot taluka, was formerly the District Headquarters, which was transferred to Bijapur in 1884. The district is better known as precarious tract as it is often visited by famine. The staple crops of the District are jowari and wheat, but cotton, ground-nut, bajri, pulses, linseed, sesamum, and safflower are also largely grown. Bijapur and Bagalkot are the two important market centres in the district, the former exporting cotton, jowar, wheat, ground-nut, linseed, sesamum and bajri on an extensive scale.

Bijapur town, the headquarter station of the district, is situated on the Hubli-Sholapur section of the M. & S. M. Rly., 350 miles south of Bombay, and is reached via Poona, Sholapur and Hotgi. It is known for its ancient historical buildings such as the Jumma Masjid with its elaborate carvings, Ibrahim Roza and Gol Ghumax, the largest dome in the world with a whispering gallery, which is well worth a visit. Badami, a taluka town, is another place to see as it contains big tanks, temples such as Mahakut, Balashankari, and Shivayog Mandir. It was once the famous capital of the Chalukyas and is now famous for its caves carved in rocks. It also stands on the Sholapur-Hubli section of the M. & S. M. Rly., about 90 miles to the South of Bijapur. Other commercial places in the district are Ilkal in Hungund taluka and Guledgud in Badami, the former is known for 'Ilkal Series' the export of which once exceeded three lakhs of rupees a year, while the latter exports Cholkhans on a large scale. Bijapur town also contains old water works; the new one from which water is being supplied to the town is the Bhutmal water works, about 5 miles to the north of the town on Bijapur-Sholapur road.

There is a travellers' bungalow about a mile from the station with a messman attached and a refreshment room at the railway station. The District has, since September 1, 1904, been made into an independent Civil and Sessions Division.

BROACH.

Broach Sub-Division is one of the richest and most fertile sub-divisions in the districts of the Bombay Province, bounded on the north by the River Mahi, on the east and south-east by the Native States of Baroda and Rajpipla, on the south by the River Kim, and on the west by the Gulf of Cambay. It embraces an area of 1,467 square miles and a population of 334,170. The sub-division forms an alluvial plain, chiefly of black cotton soil, highly fertile and well cultivated, producing the famous Broach Cotton, the best grown in India. Broach, the headquarters of the District, situated on the banks of the Narbada, is one of the oldest seaports in Western India. Formerly the seat of a great and flourishing trade, it has been largely eclipsed by the growth of Bombay, and the weaving industry also has declined to an appreciable degree. Broach is a station on the Bombay, Baroda & Central India Railway. There is a fair, dharamshala and a P.W.D. Inspection Bungalow. The new Narmada Bridge has been recently constructed by the B. HYDERABAD STATE.

The State of Hyderabad and Berar occupies a well defined and distinct position, located about the centre of the Indian Peninsula and comprising a low plateau with an average height of 1,250 ft. above sea level. This is the largest Indian State in area, population and revenue, and from the point of view of population is far bigger than Egypt, Iraq or Afghanistan. The area is 100,465 square miles (Berar 17,767 square miles), and the population 17,877,986 (Berar 3,441,838). It is divided into two large administrative circles, the Teligana and the Mahrathwara, corresponding to the natural divisions of the north and the west with its trappean rocks, and the granite and limestone region of the south and the east. The river systems of the Godavari and the Krishna control the waters of the Dominions, while the Tungabhadra forms the southern boundary. There are flat topped hills dispersed widely, and forest areas are confined to the districts of Warangal, Karimnagar and Adilabad, and the Amrabad Taluqa of the Mahboobnagar district. The climate is equable practically all over the State, and the scenery varied and pleasant.

The victory in the Great War won for the faithful ally of the British Government the special title of "His Exalted Highness," and the 1936 Agreement brought the new distinction of "His Highness the Prince of Berar" to the heir-apparent of the State.

By the 1936 Agreement, Berar is administered as a part of the Province of the Central Provinces and Berar, full sovereign rights of His Exalted Highness the Nizam being recognised, and Rs. 25 lakhs being paid as rent to the State coffers as before.

Many places of beauty and of historic interest are scattered all over the dominions. In the very heart of the metropolis a magnificent edifice, called Char Minar, because of its four minarets, stands at the junction of four main roads. It was built in A.D. 1591 by Muhammed Quli Qutub Shah.

The well-known fortress of Golconda, popularly associated with the diamonds of the Krishna Valley, is situated at a distance of six miles from the City of Hyderabad and commands a beautiful view of the surrounding country. It has an elevation of 2,000 ft. above sea level, being built on a hill. Within the walls of the fort, scattered in all directions, are a number of old buildings, mosques and temples of historical interest. Of all the mountain fortresses, Golconda has the most impressive structure, and contains many positions which were considered impregnable in its days of glory.

The Ellora caves are situated at a distance of 13 miles from Aurangabad. They contain some of the largest and most elaborately carved specimens of Buddhist, Brahmanic, and Jain styles of cave architecture. There are 30 large caves carved out of living rock. They stretch over a distance of two miles and represent a period of 1,000 years. The three systems have been arranged side by side in almost chronological order. The interior walls are richly carved with mythological designs representing many well-known stories and characters. By far the most important of these rock-hewn temples is the great excavation known as the temple of Kailasa in which the whole Hindu pantheon is cut in a perpendicular rock.

About 52 miles north-east of Aurangabad are situated the famous Buddhist caves of Ajanta. These caves vary in height from 35 feet to 100 feet. They are 32 in all, 29 of which belong exclusively to the Buddhist religion, while the remaining three are chai'ya halls or places of worship. No trace of Brahmanical symbols is to be found in any of these caves. They display, in addition to colossal specimens of Buddhist sculpture, some of the most brilliant scenic paintings of the period.

The thousand-pillared temple at Hanamkonda which has weathered the storms of eight centuries, the temples of Tuljapur and Ambajogi, and the Sikh Gurdwara at Nanded, are pre-eminent in a multitude of Hindu Temples scattered throughout the State, either for their artistic beauties or historic associations.

Of the population of 14,500,000 of Hyderabad about one and a half million are town-dwellers and the rest live in villages. Agriculture forms the main occupation of the people, who live either by tilling the soil or by following some allied occupation. The land is generally fertile with an average rainfall of 30 ins. Among other crops the State produces chiefly rice, wheat, and many varieties of food grains. There is a large area under cotton cultivation, and the castor seed production yields a large proportion of the world's output.

Hyderabad is rich in agricultural and mineral wealth. Of the latter coal forms by far the most important item. At present coal mines are being worked by three companies at Singareni, Tandur and Sasti.

H.E.H. the Nizam's State Railway with 1,400 miles of railway line and 4,000 miles of road transport is by far the largest industry in the State. Apart from being a major industry itself, it forms the basis of all other industries. It is fully equipped and with its progressive outlook is ever ready to provide facilities for the development of industries in the State.

Electricity for the cities of Hyderabad and Secunderabad and their environs is supplied at the present time by Hussain Sagar Power Station in Hyderabad. This is under the direct management of the Electricity Department of H.E.H. the Nizam's Government. The present capacity of the station stands at approximately 10,000 kilowatts, but it was designed for an ultimate capacity of 20,000 kilowatts. Considerable advance has been made in recent years with respect to street lighting and domestic consumption, while the adequacy of Hyderabad's water-supply has been greatly enhanced by the application of electricity for pumping water.

A number of large and small scale industries flourish in various parts of the State. Notable amongst these are Cotton Mills, Cement Manufacture, Ginning and Pressing Mills, Button Manufacture, etc. The State is also well known for the fine workmanship of its Bidri ware, Warangal Carpets, Karimnagar Silver Work, Nirmal Toy Industry, the Gold Lace Work of Paithan and the Himroo weaving of Aurangabad.

After two centuries of benevolent rule by the Asafia Dynasty, the present ruler, Nawab Sir Mir Osman Ali Khan Bahadur, G.C.S.I., G.B.E., succeeded his father, Nawab Sir Mir Mahboob Ali Khan Bahadur, in 1911, and in 1938, the Silver Jubilee celebrations of His Exalted Highness's reign were held all over the State by his loyal and grateful subjects. Modern Hyderabad, as at present and as planned for further progress, is entirely the product of His Exalted Highness's deep love of his subjects and genius for administration and statesmanship. The 1919 Constitution, promulgated by His Exalted Highness after personal touch with governmental work for several years and after the victorious termination of the Great War, forms the basis of the present administrative arrangements. There is an executive council with a president, with portfolios distributed among them, and with powers distinctly defined as among individual members.

There is a legislative council comprising 30 members, of whom eight are non-officials. There is also a judiciary, completely separated from the executive, and presided over by a High Court with a special charter, and a judicial committee working as the final Appellate Court. Urdu is the official language of the Court and the Government, and traditional methods of Moghul administration have been maintained intact, modified by the adaptation of modern conceptions and practices in other countries.

The State maintains a Regular Force on lines similar to the Army in India, divided into A, B and C class units, out of which the two former have been supplied with modern rifles and equipment. The Horse Artillery Battery is armed with 18 pounder guns, and C class units with 410 Smooth Bore Muskets.

The State has a University with six Arts Colleges including one for Women and colleges for Engineering, Medicine, Law and Teaching. It has also an Honours College affiliated to the Madras University, a College for Jagirdars and a College of Physical Education. There are also a Central Cottage Industries Institute, a Central Technical Institute and an Observatory.

The Present Ruler of the State is His Exalted Highness, RUSTOM-I-DOWRAN, ARASTU-I-ZAMAN, LT. GENERAL, MUZAFFARUL MULK, WAL-MAMALIK, NAWAB SIR MIR OSMAN ALI KHAN BAHADUR, FATEH JUNG SIPAH, SALAR Faithful Ally of the British Government; NIZAMUD-DOULA, NIZAMUL MULK ASAF JAH, G.C.S.I., G.B.E., Nizam of Hyderabad and Berar.

EDUCATIONAL.

OSMANIA UNIVERSITY.

The Osmania University, established by Charter in 1918, is the first attempt in India to impart university education through an Indian language, English being a compulsory second language. For over half a century, higher education in the State was controlled by the Madras University, but the results were so discouraging that in 1917 the Right Honourable Sir Akbar Hydari, Kt., F.C., B.A., LL.D. (Nawab Hyder Nawaz Jung Bahadur), then Secretary to His Exalted Highness's Government in the Educational Department, submitted a Memorandum to His Exalted Highness in which, after surveying the existing conditions and discussing the disadvantages of imparting knowledge through the medium of a foreign language, he recommended the inauguration of a University which should be both an examining and a teaching body and should also undertake to compile and translate books, using Urdu as the medium of instruction and examination. The standard of compulsory English is nearly the same as in other Universities, and enables its alumni to keep in touch with the currents of thought in the English-speaking world and prevents them from being confined to the publications of the University. An important feature of the University is the Bureau of Translation with a large staff of qualified translators. The work attempted by the Bureau embraces the whole range of University studies including History, Philosophy, Economics, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Zoology, Pedagogics, Law, Medicine and Engineering. It has published nearly 400 books on these subjects.

Faculties.—The University is of the unitary teaching type, providing instruction in all subjects of University study. The Faculties of Theology, Arts, Science, Law and Engineering are located in the University area at Adikmet, while the Medical and Training Colleges still remain in the City owing to the absence of the necessary facilities at Adikmet. The Women's College which has Intermediate, B.A. and B.Sc., M.A. and M.Sc. Classes is also located in the City. The University has at present Intermediate Classes also and there are four Intermediate Colleges at Aurangabad, Warangal, Gulbarga and in the City of Hyderabad, but His Exalted Highness's Government have under consideration a scheme of educational reorganisation, under which the University course for the B.A. degree will be of three years. The total number of students is nearly 1,800 and the University has an annual budget of over 20 lacs of rupees.

University Buildings.—The new buildings of the University are being constructed near Adikmet, a suburb of the City at an estimated cost of about a crore and a half. The construction of the Arts building which will accommodate classes in subjects under the Faculty of Arts has been completed. Two double-storied hostels accommodating nearly three hundred and twenty-five students with a separate dining hall and kitchen are ready. Among the proposed buildings on which work has not been started as yet are the Senate House, the Library, the Museum, the Co-operative Hall and the Science, Training, Law, Agricultural and Engineering Colleges, a Stadium, Swimming Pool and Professors' quarters. As these buildings will take some time to be built, temporary buildings of a semi-permanent nature have been constructed.

JUNAGADH STATE.

A first-class State under the Western India States Agency, and lying in the south-western portion of the Kathiawar Peninsula between 24°-44' and 21°-53' north latitude; 70° and 72° east longitude with the Halar Division of the Province as its northern boundary and Gohilwad Prant to its east. It is bounded on the south and west by the Arabian Sea.

The State is divided into 12 Mahals. It has 16 ports, the principal ones being Verawal, Mangrol and Nawabandar. The principal rivers in the State are the Bhadar, Uben, Ozat, Hiran, Saraswati, Machhundri, Singaoda, Meghal, Vrajmi, Raval and Sabli.

The capital town of Junagadh, which is one of the most picturesque towns in India, is situated on the slopes of the Girnar and the Datar Hills, while in antiquity and historical interest it yields to none. The Uparkot or old Citadel contains interesting Buddhist caves and the whole of the City and neighbourhood is honeycombed with caves of their remains. There are a number of fine modern buildings in the town. The famous Asoka inscription of the Buddhist time carved out on a big bolster of black granite stone is housed at the foot of the Girnar Hill, which is sacred to the Jains, Shaivites, Vishnavites and other sects of Hindus.

To the south-east of the Girnar Hill lies the extensive Gir forest, comprising 494 square miles, 823 acres and 10 gunthas. It supplies timber and other natural products to the residents of the State and neighbouring districts, and is unique for being the last refuge of the Indian lion.

The area of the State is 3,337 square miles and the average revenue nearly one crore. The population according to the census of 1931 was 545,152, of which 433,125 were Hindus, 104,964 Mahomedans, 6,853 Jains, 150 Christians, 48 Parsis and 12 other castes.

Until 1472 when it was conquered by Sultan Mahomed Begada of Ahmedabad, Junagadh was a Rajput State ruled by Chiefs of the Chuda Sama tribe. During the reign of Akbar it became a dependency of Delhi under the immediate authority of the Moghul Viceroy of Gujarat. About 1735, when the representative of the Moghuls had lost his authority in Gujarat, Sherkhan Babi, the ancestor of the present Babi Ruler, expelled the Moghul Governor, and established his own rule. The ruler of Junagadh first entered into engagements with the British Government in 1807.

The principal products of the State are cotton, bajri, juwar, sesamum, wheat, rice, sugarcane, cereals, grass, timber, stone, castor-seed, fish, country tobacco, groundnuts, coconuts, bamboos, etc., while the chief manufactures are ghee, molasses, sugarcandy, copper and brassware, dyed cloth, gold and silver embroidery, pottery, hardware, leather, bamboo furniture, etc.

The State pays a tribute of Rs. 28,394 annually to the Paramount Power and a Peshkashi of Rs. 37,210 to His Highness the Gaekwar of Baroda ; on the other hand, it receives a tribute known as Zortalbi, amounting to Rs. 92,421-8-0, from no fewer than 134 States and Talukas—a relic of the days of Mahomedan supremacy. The State has its own Forces consisting of the Lancers and the Mahabat Khanji Infantry, the sanctioned strength of the former being 173 and the latter 219, inclusive of the Bag-pipe Band.

The Chief of Junagadh bears the title of Nawab. The present Nawab, Captain His Highness Sir Mahabat Khan III, G.C.I.E., K.C.S.I., is the ninth in succession and seventh in descent from Bahadurkhanji I, the founder of the Babi Family of Junagadh in 1735 A.D. His Highness the Nawab Saheb was born on 2nd August 1900 and succeeded to the Gadi in 1911, visited England in 1913-14, received his education at the Mayo College, Ajmer, and was invested with full powers in March 1920. His Highness is the Ruler of the premier State in Kathiawar, ranks first amongst the Chiefs of Kathiawar, exercising plenary powers, and enjoys a personal salute of 15 guns, the permanent salute being 15 guns within and 13 guns outside Junagadh territory. Languages spoken : Gujarati and Urdu. Capital : Junagadh.

KANARA (NORTH).

A District in the Province of Bombay on the Karnatak coast. It is bounded on the north by Goa and the Belgaum District; on the east by the Dharwar District and Mysore; on the south by South Kanara, and on the west by the Arabian Sea. The Sahyadri Range of the Western Ghats runs through the District from south to north even abutting on the sea at some places. The hills divide the District into two parts, the uplands and the lowlands. The lowlands are sandy loams and the uplands are vast stretches of forests comprising nearly 80 per cent. of the whole area. The forests give their character to the District and abound in large quantities of timber, chiefly teak and sissum, and of bamboos.

Karwar, the headquarters of the District, possesses a fine harbour. The natural attractions of the country around, with its forests and hills, the seashore, the varieties of wild game and fishing attractions make Karwar a centre for tourists, and with its salubrious environments it is a health resort.

The Kanara coast has vast potentialities for fisheries. The rich forests can bid fair to command some of the best industries in manganese, paper pulp and timber. In the interior of these forests are some of the best spice gardens of the world. The forests are rich also in natural herbs which are used in the cure of pneumonia, cholera, paralysis, fracture of bones, etc.

KARACHI.

Karachi, like the other great seaports of India—Bombay, Calcutta and Madras—may be regarded as almost a creation of British rule. Before it came into British possession in 1842, it was an insignificant town with a small coasting trade. Since the introduction of settled administration, splendid harbour works have been carried out, the town has been linked with the Indian railway system by a series of important trunk lines, and it has become the seat of a large and flourishing commerce. At great expenditure, the difficult, though conveniently situated, harbour has been so improved that vessels of large tonnage can lie alongside the deep water berths in perfect security, and Karachi is now the principal outlet for the extensive grain trade of the Punjab, besides being the seat of a considerable import traffic. Karachi is an important air port and military station. The climate, owing to the prevalence of sea-breezes during eight months of the year, has a better reputation for healthiness than any other in Sind. The low situation of the city and its neighbourhood to the marshland render the atmosphere both moist and warm, but the heat during the hottest months cannot compare with that experienced in the interior. In 1936 Sind became a separate province, with a Governor and his staff, a Legislative Assembly and a full Secretariat, with their Headquarters in the city of Karachi. The present population exceeds 300,000. There are several hotels near the station.

KHANDALA.

Khandala is situated on the G. I. P. Railway 78 miles from Bombay at the top of the Bhore Ghats at an elevation of about 2,000 feet above M.S.L. It is noted primarily as a health resort, and for its agreeable and bracing climate throughout the year. The railway station is easily accessible from all the bungalows, hotels, sanitariums, etc. Khandala is favoured by many who desire quiet week-ends away from the noise and bustle of city life. Good Hotels are available such as the Khandala Hotel and the Empress Hotel. The former has an extensive European clientele, and is equipped with a swimming pool; while the latter is patronised largely by Parsis. Amongst the more important institutions in the station are the St. Peter's School and All Saints' Nursery, the Parsi Dharamsala, (built by Sir Jamshedji Jeejeebhoy Kt.), the Marzban Sanitarium for Parsis, separate Khoja and Hindu Sanitariums, the retreat for the professors of the St. Xavier's College of Bombay, the Charitable Dispensary and Hospital built by the late Mr. N. N. Wadia. Several private bungalows are also available for seasonal lease. Of local interest are the Tata Electric Supply Company's Reservoir, called the Forbay Dam, Byramjee's Point, the Duke's Nose, Tiger's Leap and other vantage points which provide magnificent and beautiful views of the surrounding country. About 9 miles from Khandala are the Karla Caves considered to be the oldest specimens of Buddhist Caves in India, and are one of the show places of tourists. In Walwan lake, which is about 4 miles from Khandala, good Mahashir fishing is available. A permit from The Tata Hydro-Electric Power Supply Co. Ltd., is necessary. At some distance, in a locality called Kune, is the Mission House run by the Jesuit Fathers in which the aboriginal natives, mostly Kathodis are taught carpet, dhuree and lace making. The town is electrically lit and possesses an adequate water supply brought from the Municipal Dam in Tungarli hills. The station is well worth a visit.

KHANDESH (EAST).

This is the easternmost district of the Bombay Presidency. It was formed out of the 11 eastern Talukas of the old District of Khandesh on 15th November 1906. These Talukas are Chalisgaon, Amalner, Parola, Chopda, Erandol, Pachora (with Bhadgaon Mahal), Jamner, Jalgaon, Yaval, Raver, Bhusawal (with Edlabad Mahal).

This District is bounded on the north by the Satpura mountains and Indore State, on the east by Nimar and Berar, on the south by His Exalted Highness the Nizam's Dominions and on the west by Nasik and West Khandesh Districts. The District of Khandesh is not part of the Deccan, but is the lower part of the basin of the Tapti, and the whole of the basins of the Girna and its affluents. East Khandesh comprises the eastern portion of these basins and is entirely watered by these two rivers and their affluents. The District has natural boundaries to the north and south, viz., the Satpura mountains on the north and the Satmala or Ajanta range on the south. Besides these, there are various smaller irregular ranges in the District. In the valley between these, and more especially in the valley of the Tapti proper, the District presents an extraordinarily fertile appearance. In this respect it differs widely from the Deccan. The roads are bordered with fine trees and there are several mango groves around most villages.

The Satpura mountains in the north consist of difficult uninhabited country which, however, produces excellent bamboos and grass, and timber suitable to the needs of the local population.

The river Tapti in this district is used, neither for watering fields nor for boat traffic. The height of the banks has hitherto prevented successful irrigation. The rainfall (mean annual is 28.27 inches) is usually both general and regular, which fact in itself discourages irrigation. The trade depends upon the different railway lines serving the districts.

For its size the East Khandesh district produces very large quantities of cotton as well as groundnut. 20 per cent. of the cotton produced in the Bombay Province comes from this district. It is classed as 'Oomras'. A new variety named Jarila, which is finer than the Broach and fetches a better price, has recently been developed here, which is expected to revolutionise the cotton crop in Khandesh.

Groundnut cultivation in this district forms nearly 25 per cent. of the crops in the whole of the Bombay Province. With the fall in prices of cotton, groundnut cultivation is increasing, recording a rise of nearly 12 per cent. in the last three years. There are about a dozen groundnut oil mills in this district, besides several bullock driven presses. There is a very large export trade in groundnut oil.

The other important crops are jwari, bajri, gram, millet, linseed and seasmum. Chief among the garden crops are chilis, corriander, melons, water melons, betel leaf and plantain. Northern India is a very lucrative export market for plantains from East Khandesh.

There are five spinning and weaving factories, 129 cotton ginning and pressing mills, one match factory at Chalisgaon, 10 chemical and dyeing factories, 3 big railway workshops at Bhusawal, two engineering works at Jalgaon and Pachora and twelve groundnut oil mills, all employing more than 16,500 persons. There are also important weaving centres at Nasirabad, Erandol, Dharangaon and Parola.

IMPORTANT CITIES.

Jalgaon with an estimated population of 40,000, is the capital of the district. It is a rising town, being favourably situated at the junction of the G. I. P. and T. V. Railways, (which, between them, traverse the whole length and most of the breadth of the district) and a big centre of trade. The Imperial Bank of India has a branch at Jalgaon. There are three other banks.

The two other important towns in the district are Bhusawal (27,989) and Amalner (23,491). Bhusawal is the biggest railway junction next to Bombay. Amalner is the biggest cotton centre in the district.

Among the historical places of interest, besides the famous Ajanta caves which are 35 miles from Jalgaon, are the three hot springs of Unabdev, Sunabdev and Najhardev; the moving minarets of Farkande (Erandol taluka) and the Pandav vada at Erandol. The hot springs are at the foot of the Satpura mountains. The Unabdev spring pours in a rapid stream from the mouth of a carved head fixed in a solid block of masonry that forms the lower part of an old temple. The source of the spring is hard to trace. The water is tasteless with a peculiar but not sulphurous smell and is believed to cure skin diseases. According to legend Unabdev was caused by an arrow shot by Sri Rama. The water, where it gushes out, has a temperature of 140 degrees. The moving minarets of Farkande are said to be so sensitive that when one is shaken the other moves.

The main population of the district is composed of Levas and Varathas, with a good percentage of Bhils, Vanjaris and other hill tribes. Levas, who are supposed to be the descendants of Lahu, the son of Rama, are said to have migrated in the 11th century. Their language is a peculiar mixture of Gujarathi, Marathi and Hindi and is called Ahirani.

The area of the district is 4,551 square miles and its population 1,206,035. With very rich fertile deep black soil, especially the trans-Tapti talukas, East Khandesh district is one of the foremost revenue paying districts in the Bombay Province. Khandesh rivers and streams abound in fish. There are no fishing rights nor any Government control. Good shikar is available in the forest area round Ghodasgaon and Pal in Edlabad Peta.

TALUKAS.—Chopda, Bhusawal, Yaval, Amalner, Jamner, Pachora, Raver, Chalisgaon, Erandol, Jalgaon and Parola.

MAHALS.—Edlabad and Bhadgaon.

KOLHAPUR

Kolhapur is the premier State in the Deccan States Agency. It is bounded on the north by the river Warna, which separates it from the British District of Satara, on the north-east by the river Krishna, on the east and south by District of Belgaum and on the west by the Sahyadri mountains which divide it from the Sawantwadi State on the south-west, and Ratnagiri on the west. The State is divided into 7 Talukas, and 3 Mahals. Area 3,217 square miles, population 957,137, of which 866,648 are Hindus.

Kolhapur became a separate principality in 1730 by a Treaty of Partition between Shahu of Satara and Sambhaji of Kolhapur, both being grandsons of Shivaji, the Founder of the Mahratta Empire, through his two sons, Sambhaji and Rajaram. Sambhaji died in 1760 and was succeeded by his adopted son Shivaji, who ruled until the year 1812. Shivaji had to fight many battles with Patwardhans who were then the Jahagirdars of the Peshwas. Through the intervention of Mountstuart Elphinstone, under the Treaty of 1812, the disputes between Kolhapur and the Peshwa came to an end. By this Treaty, the Talukas of Chikodi and Manoli, the bone of contention between Kolhapur and the Peshwa, were ceded to the Peshwa. On the annexation of the Peshwa's kingdom in 1818, these Talukas were given back in full sovereignty to Sambhaji alias Abasaheb Maharaj under a Sanad issued by General Sir Thomas Munroe in appreciation of his support to the cause of the Company's Government. In the prime of youth, Abasaheb Maharaj was murdered in 1821 and was succeeded by his brother Shahaji alias Buvasaheb Maharaj. Owing to his acts of aggression, the British Government had to intervene in 1826 and 1827, and by the Treaty of 1827, Buvasaheb had to give back the Talukas of Chikodi and Manoli to the British Government. Buvasaheb died in 1833 and as his sons Shivaji alias Babasaheb and Shahu alias Chimsaheb were minors, Diwansaheb Maharaj, wife of Abasaheb Maharaj and aunt of the young Maharaja, administered the affairs of Kolhapur till 1844. As the administration was found most unsatisfactory, the Government of Bombay appointed Rao Bahadur Daji Krishna Pandit as Principal Karbhari. As he made certain very drastic changes in the administration, the Gadkaris of Samangad, Bhudargad and other forts rose in rebellion and the British Government had to quell the disturbance with the help of their Military Force at the cost of the State. The Government thereupon appointed Major D. C. Graham as Political Superintendent who administered the State with the help of Daji Pandit as Principal Karbhari. The administration of the State was handed over to Babasaheb Maharaj in 1862 after he had signed the Agreement of that year. On his death in 1866, he was succeeded by his adopted son, Rajaram Maharaj, a promising young prince, who died at Florence in 1870. Shivaji IV was then adopted; but as he was found to be insane, the management of the State, which was taken over by the Political Agent after the demise of Babasaheb Maharaj in 1866 owing to the minority of the Maharajas, was handed over in 1882 to the Regency in Council presided over by Meherban Abasaheb, the Chief of Kagal Senior. On the death of Shivaji at Ahmednagar in 1893, the late lamented Shri Shahu Maharaj, son of the Regent Abasaheb, the Chief of Kagal Senior and son of Princess Balabai, sister of His Highness Babasaheb Maharaj, was adopted in 1884. He was installed on the Gadi by His Excellency Lord Harris, the then Governor of Bombay, in 1894. He was a powerful personality and made many reforms in the State. He was a staunch supporter of the backward classes in the Deccan and tried his best to elevate them. He enhanced the prestige of the State which was at its lowest ebb when he assumed the reins of Government. Residuary criminal jurisdiction over the Feudatory Jahagirdars was restored to Kolhapur in 1903 by Lord Northcote. He made primary education free and compulsory in 1917.

The present Ruler, Colonel His Highness Sir Shri Rajaram Chhatrapati Maharaj, G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E., Maharaja of Kolhapur, was born on 30th July 1897 and succeeded to the Gadi on the 6th May 1922 on the demise of his father. He has had excellent education under Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Irwin and later for over 3 years in various schools in England. On his way back to India in 1915, he travelled over a portion of Great Britain and the United States of America and a part of Japan. He then studied Agriculture at Ewing College, Allahabad. He is a good sportsman and a great rider as well as a first class whip. He is fond of races and other outdoor sports. He has two wives, the first being Her Highness Tarabaisahob Maharaj, grand-daughter of the late Maharaja Sir Sayajirao Gaikwad of Baroda, and sister of His Highness Shri Pratapsinh Gaekwar, the Maharaja of Baroda, and the second being Her Highness Vijayamala Ranisahob Maharaj, daughter of Meherban Atmaramrao Mohite of Tanjore. LONAVLA.

This Hill station is situated at the top of the Bhere Ghaut incline about 2,300 feet above sea level. There are extensive Railway quarters, both for European and Indian employees, a Railway Dispensary exclusively for Railway employees, a Railway Co-operative Store and Railway Institute with Reading Rooms and Library and Tennis Courts separately for European and Indian Railway employees.

Lonavla, Bhangarwadi, Bhushi, Nagargaon, Valvan, Tungarli and Khandalla are in the charge of the Lonavla City Municipality established in 1877. The Railway has a Municipality of its own. The Post and Telegraph offices in Lonavla belong to the 2nd class. Church of England, Methodist and Roman Catholic churches, two Masonic lodges—Lodge 'Dawn of Peace' and Lodge 'Barton'—are other important features of the town.

Of the Lakes may be mentioned the 'Tata Sons Hydro-Electric Works Lake' at Valvan (within easy walk and drive over a built road), their smaller Lake near the Railway, (woods) and the Lonavla Municipality's Water Works on the top of the Toongarlee Hill about 2½ miles north of the Railway Station. Fishing is allowed both at the Bhushi and the Valvan lakes, the latter being the most suited for the purpose. A permit can be obtained locally from the Water Engineer's office at Lonavla on payment of a fee of Re. 1 per day, which includes the use of the Company's boat. Similarly special and ordinary permits are obtainable from the Tata Hydro-Electric Co.'s head office at Bombay, Bombay House, Bruce Street, Fort. The boat is given to the first applicant and the Company supplies no coolies for rowing, etc. Each one should make his own arrangements.

The Railway houses are supplied with water from the Railway Bhushi Tank, about 3 miles from the Railway Station. The town of Lonavla and its adjacent villages and suburbs are supplied with water from the Municipal Water Works at Tungarli. Lonavla has a High School, conducted by the Vidya Prasari Sabha of Poona, a Municipal Dispensary and Hospital with a Maternity Ward. The Municipality has constructed New Vegetable, Mutton and Beef Markets and a Beef Slaughter House on modern sanitary principles. There is a Municipal rest-house and Dharmashalla on the Lonavla-Bhangarwadi Road. The Rai, the Lonavla woods, is well-known for picnics and as a camping ground for Government Officers during the hot season.

About 3½ miles from the Railway is situated the "Tiger's Leap," a promontory which commands a picturesque view of the valley below. The famous ancient Karla Caves are situated on a hill about five miles from Lonavla, which are reached by a built road up to the foot of the hill, and visitors either walk or can be carried up to it by means of chairs. A clerk in charge of the caves is stationed there for assisting visitors to the Caves. Tongas and Victorias can be hired throughout the year. From the Railway Station of Malawali, nearly three miles from Lonavla, visitors can proceed to view the Lohgadhi Fort (now partially demolished) on the top of a hill. The approach to it is by no means easy and visitors must arrange beforehand for chairs—slung on poles—to be sent to the Railway station from the Karla Caves hill or village. This Fort was formerly used as a State prison by the Peshwas. About 5 miles by road from Lonavla is the Sakar Pathar Hill, a well-known shooting ground where big game may be found and occasionally panthers.

The terrace garden overlooking Tata's Valvan Lake, and situated at the top of a hill, commanding an extensive view all round, is another attraction for visitors to Lonavla. The garden is mainly financed by the Kaivalyadham Ashram of Lonavla, the Municipality also contributing to its up-keep.

The following are the heights of the important Forts and places of visit :—

Fort of Lohgadhi	3,412 feet above sea level.
Fort of Visapur	3,542 do.
Fort of Rajmachi which stands on the top of the Sihadri Range and commands a grand view of Matheran, Konkan and even part of Bombay	2,710 do.
Duke's Nose	2,720 do.
Tungarli Municipal Lake	2,276 do. Top of Dam.

There are three good Hotels at Lonavla, viz., the Lake View, the International and the Hamilton. The International and the Hamilton remain open throughout the year. Mention may also be made of the Khandalla Hotel at Khandalla, which is only 2 miles from Lonavla.

The temperature varies from 65 in the cold weather to 85 in the hottest month.

The rainfall varies from 160 to 250 inches, but the yearly average is about 160 inches.

The Municipality maintains electric street lights in the Municipal limits.

The Rulers of the State belong to the historic Solanki clan of Rajputs, claiming their descent from the famous Sidhraj Jaysinh Dev of Anhilwad (Gujarat). Besides having fine patches of good agricultural land, the State contains a considerable forest area yielding rich timber. The State enjoys a hereditary salute of 9 guns. The population is 95,162 according to the census of 1931. The present Ruler Lieut. Maharana Shri Virbhadrasinghji ascended the gadi of his ancestors, with full powers, in October 1930. MATHERAN (HILL STATION).

Matheran is a hill station and sanitarium, about 3 hours' journey from Bombay or Poona. It is situated about 2,500 feet above sea level, and is a favourite hot weather resort. There are some 31 points round the hill commanding gorgeous views and 35 miles of roads and paths on the hill. Visitors to Matheran are conveyed up the hill from Neral (G. I. P. Ry.) by the Matheran Steam Tramway or Rail Motors. The climate is salubrious. There are lovely walks and rides throughout the hill. Its spring water is reputedly good. Pure, filtered and chlorinated water is supplied to all bungalows on the hill by pipes.

Amongst the amenities of Matheran are several good hotels, a well laid out public park and garden, a bandstand, two children's playgrounds, electric and telephone services, and several cool and shady picnic places. During the season the band plays almost daily. The hill is a favourite place for honeymoons. There are European and Parsi Gymkhanas in Matheran, with Tennis Courts, 2 Sanitariums for Parsis, 3 for Hindu and one for Ismaili Khojas available for convalescents.

The Hill offers excellent opportunities for Shikar and a good shot is certain to carry his trophy of spotted skin, even within a short stay.

The smiling Thakurs of the valleys, the innocent Dhangars of the plains and the unfailing monkeys add to the attractions of the Hill.

The maximum and minimum temperatures range between 65 to 80 ordinarily and the average rainfall is 200 inches.

The Municipality maintains an up-to-date Hospital for both in and out-patients. There is a Post and Telegraph Office, a Revenue Office and an Honorary Magistrate's Court, Police Station and a Forest Depot.

MORVI.

The State of Morvi is situated in the north-west of the Peninsula of Kathiawar between 70°-30' and 71°-10' east Longitude and 22°-18' and 23°-33' north latitude. It has territory in the Cutch Peninsula also, known as Adhoi Mahal. The State contains 152 villages in Machhukantha covering an area of 822 square miles and 6 villages in Adhoi Mahal covering an area of about 50 sq. miles. The population according to the census of 1931 is 1,13,024. The gross income of the State from all sources is approximately Rs. 40 lakhs.

Navlakhi is the chief port of the State, where ships from England, European ports, Rangoon, Bombay, etc., call regularly every month or oftener. The Hansa, Holland, British India and Clan Lines of Steamers maintain a regular monthly service to Navlakhi. The City and Anchor Line Steamers call about six times every year. The Bombay Steam Navigation Company maintains a regular thrice-a-month service to the port. Steamers of British India, Scindia and Asiatic Lines call regularly and frequently from Rangoon. They all anchor from one to two miles off the pier. Navlakhi is a terminus on the metre-gauge line of the Morvi Railway and is thus directly connected with Delhi, Rajputana, Gujarat and Kathiawar. It is the safest port on the entire Kathiawar coast and is open throughout the year. It is nearest to the vast hinterland of Gujarat, Northern and Central India by rail. In the matter of import traffic from Europe it is the first and chief port in Kathiawar. A regular daily ferry service runs between Navlakhi and Kundla (Cutch) which has proved very popular with the travelling public because of the safe and short route.

Agriculture is the chief occupation of the State subjects, but industry is rapidly developing. The Parshuram Pottery Works turn out splendid earthenware and stoneware articles. The Mahendra Glass Works have been well established now and are successfully competing with foreign concerns. The Morvi Salt Works at Lavanpur are producing about 30,000 tons of salt annually for the Kathiawar and Bengal markets. They are among the most economically managed Salt Works in the country. The Morvi Spinning and Weaving Mills are being reconstructed and are expected to start work shortly. The 9 State Ginning and Pressing Factories are able to cope with the work of ginning and pressing the entire cotton and wool produce of the State. The State and Railway Workshops give employment to hundreds of wage-earners. Among the smaller industries may be mentioned the Morvi Oil Mills which crush groundnuts, the newly started Bone Factory, a Match Factory and the Mayur Metal Works and the Kathiawar Paint Works.

NASIK.

A district in the Bombay Province, bounded on the north by East and West Khandesh, on the east by the Nizam's Dominions, on the south by Ahmednagar and on the west by Thana. Area 5,877 square miles, Collecto-rates. Population 1,000,048 as per Census of 1931. With the exception of a few villages in the west, the whole district is situated on a table-land at an elevation of 1,300 to 2,100 feet above the sea. Nasik town, the headquarters station, is considered by Hindus to be a place of special interest and holiness. About twenty miles from its source the river Godavari, flowing eastwards through a group of small hills, turns sharply to the south, and after passing in that direction for about a mile, again swerves suddenly towards the east. On both sides of the river but chiefly upon the right or south-eastern bank, lies the town of Nasik,—a town full of mythological and historical associations, the refuge of Rama during his period of exile (Vanvas). The city was also known as Gulshanabad in Moghul times, and there is a mosque built by the Emperor Shah Jahan for his godfather the famous Saint, Khwaja Sadiksha Husseini, whose maqbara is opposite the mosque, and in whose honour the Hindu following of the Saint hold an annual fair in the month of Falgun (Hindu almanac.) Temples fringe the banks, and even the bed of the stream is dotted with temples and shrines. This part of the town is extremely picturesque especially during the pilgrim season; the other part is also attractive and remarkable for its manufactures of brass. Five miles to the south of the town are the remarkable rock temple of Pandu Lena.

The climate of Nasik is cool and agreeable, especially during the rains from June to October. For this reason it is favoured by Educational Institution. There is the Barnes High School at Deolali maintained by the Bombay Education Society, the Parsi High School at Nasik, a Government High School, three local High Schools, Anglo-Urdu Middle School, the Hansraj Pragji Thackersey College and the recently founded Bhonsla Military School at Anandwalli near Nasik. There is also the Police Training School of the Bombay Government.

Nasik is the headquarters of the Royal Western India Golf Club which maintains excellent links and is a favourite resort during the season. The Club has accommodation for bachelor as well as married members.

At Nasik Road are the Government Distillery, the Central Jail and the Security Printing Press. Near Nasik town there are the Nasik Guest House and two other guest houses, none of which, however, are licensed for alcoholic drinks. At Nasik Road a charming convalescent home is maintained through the agency of Mr. H. M. Phipson.

NAWANAGAR (JAMNAGAR).

A full powered Indian State having political relations with the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor-General in the States of Western India since October 1924. It lies between $21^{\circ}44'$ and $22^{\circ}58'$ north latitude and $69^{\circ}10'30''$ and $71^{\circ}33'30''$ east longitude on the southern shore of the Gulf of Cutch, with an area of 3,791 square miles, the largest by far in the province. It is bounded on the north by the Gulf and the Runn of Cutch; on the east by the States of Morvi, Rajkot, Dhrol and Gondal; on the south by the Sorath Division of Kathiawar; and on the west by the Okha Runn and the Arabian Sea. It is mostly flat, but a little more than one-third of the Barda Hills are within its limits. Mount Venu, the highest point of the Barda Hills, is 2,057 feet above sea level. The principal rivers are the Bhadar, the Vartu, the Aji, the Und, and the Dondi. The harbours of Jodiya, Salaya and Nawanager or Bedi and Rozi are situated within the State. Mangrove swamps line the shores of the gulf, affording large supplies for firewood and camel pasture.

The land produces both garden and dry crops. Irrigation is provided by draw-wells, by artificial tanks and by aqueducts from rivers. The principal products are grain, cotton, til and castorseed; bajra, wheat and gram are the staple food crops. Wheat is produced with and without irrigation. The only forests of any importance are those in the northern portion of the Barda Hills and the new forest in the Dalasa Hills.

Marble of different qualities is found in the Kandorna and Bhanwad Talukas. Iron occurs in the Khambhalia paragana, but owing to foreign competition it is not able to hold its own. A pearl fishery lies off the coast on the northern shores of the State. The pearls are of varying sizes but of a very beautiful colour and fine lustre. Cloth and silk, as well as gold and silver embroidery, brocade, turbans and saris are the chief manufactures. The dyeing industry which employs a considerable number of people is very flourishing. The dyes are much admired, and their excellence is traditionally attributed to the quality of the water of the Rangmati river, which flows by Nawanager Town, along with the Nagmati river.

Jamnagar City is the capital of the State. It is 51 miles from Rajkot by railway, which is owned by the State. It is almost entirely built of stone, and is a walled town. It shows every sign of prosperity. It is nearly four miles in circuit. The population is chiefly industrial and commercial and they produce fine silk and gold embroidery. The place is also famous for its perfumery and oils and for its Kanku powder. The climate is very pleasant and temperate throughout the year. It is particularly enjoyable, being cool and bracing from November to March. The palaces of Kotha, Lakhota, Lal Bungalow, etc., are picturesque. The new Palace (Pratap Villas), Rozi Bunder, Vijarkhi Tank and Balachadi (one of the pleasantest hot weather resorts in Kathiawar) are some of the chief objects of interest. The City and the Paragana contain a population of nearly fifty-five thousand souls.

Population 409,192. Revenue nearly Rs. 94,00,000.

The State is divided into the following Mahals (territorial divisions), viz. :—

Panchkoshi, Jodiya, Paddhari, Lalpur, Atkot, Kalawad, Kandorna, Khambhalia, Bhanwad, Jodhpur, Kalyanpur, and the following sub-Mahals, viz., Wanthali, Chela, Balambha, Amran, Padana, Bhadla, Nikava, Mewasa, Salaya, Satapur, Ranpur, Wadala, Bhatia and Rawal. There are four irrigation tanks in the State, viz., Adhia, Hansthal, Vijarkhi and Keshia.

PALITANA.

A nine-gun State in the Gohelwad Division (Kathiawar) of the Western India States Agency. Area about 300 square miles. Principal agricultural products—grain, sugarcane and cotton. Revenue about Rs. 8,46,000. The chief town, Palitana, is a station on the Bhavnagar State (Kathiawar) Railway. Palitana is justly celebrated for its Jain temples on the Shatrunjaya Hill, situated within the Palitana jurisdiction. This hill is sacred to Adinath, the first of the Jain Saints (Tirthankars). The summit, which is divided into two peaks, with the valley between partly built over by a wealthy Jain merchant, is covered with temples, amongst which the most famous are those of Adinath, Kumarpal, Vimalsha, Sampriti Raja and Chawmukh. This last is the most lofty temple on the hill and can be clearly distinguished at a distance of 25 miles. Shatrunjaya is the most sacred of the five sacred hills of the Jains. Mr. Kinloch Forbes describes it as the "first of all places of pilgrimage, the bridal hall of those who would win everlasting rest." Owing to the special sanctity of Shatrunjaya, all members of the Jain faith feel it a duty to perform, if possible, at least one pilgrimage here during their life. Palitana is also noted for its breed of horses, particularly beautiful typical Kathi horses, in which its Rulers have been taking a warm and personal interest.

RULER.—Thakore Saheb Shri Sir Bahadursinhji Mansinhji, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., Thakore Saheb of Palitana, born on 3rd April 1900, installed and invested with full powers on 27th November 1919. The Heir-apparent Yuvraj Shri Shivendrasinhji was born on the 23rd September, 1936.

The two sections of the District differ considerably in appearance—that to the south-west is a level tract of rich soil (except the hill of Pawagarh), whilst the northern portion, though it contains some fertile valleys, is generally rugged, undulating and barren with but little cultivation. The District contains the famous ruins of Champaner, which was a stronghold of the Ahmedabad Kings and the Taru dynasty. Area 1,606 square miles exclusive of the Agency area of 4,000 square miles. Population, 454,526. Headquarters—Godhra Talukas: Godhra, Kalol and Dohad; Mahals, Halol and Jhalod. Godhra is a junction on the Bombay-Delhi main line of the B. B. & C. I. Rly. POONA.

Poona, the ancient seat of the Peshwas, and now the Military capital of the Deccan and also the head-quarters of the Government of Bombay from July to November, stands on the right bank of the Mutha River, 119 miles south-east from Bombay. The city proper extends along the Mutha for about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles inland; its length is about 2 miles from east to west, and its breadth about $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles, the total area being about $2\frac{1}{2}$ square miles. The population according to the Census of 1931 is 250,187. Historically Poona is a city with a past, and is the scene of some of the most hard-fought triumphs of war and diplomacy in the annals of British Rule in India. North of the town is the Military cantonment, and within cantonment limits northwards to the Mutha-Mulla river and for 2 miles along the road leading to Kirkee are the houses of the greater part of the European population. Kirkee, 3 miles from Poona, the centre of the Artillery garrison, is the site of the famous battle which decided the fate of the Deccan, and 4 miles from Poona is Ganeshkhind, the handsome residence of the Governor of Bombay.

The climate of Poona, due to its altitude, is temperate all the year round, being delightfully cool and bracing between October and March, and very enjoyable during the monsoon season. The hottest months are April and May, but the heat is dry and by no means as trying as even a lower temperature is along the coast or in the plains. The air, especially in the cold months, is invigorating, and Poona may be said to possess one of the most suitable climates for Europeans in India. It is doubtless largely for this reason that has been selected as the seat of the Bombay Government during the monsoon season and the head-quarters of the Southern Command.

PORBANDAR.

A First Class Indian State, in the Sorath Division of Kathiawar, situated to the west of the Peninsula. It consists of a strip along the shore of the Arabian Sea nowhere more than 24 miles broad; area 642½ square miles with 3 towns and 103 villages. The Limestone known as Porbandar Stone is chiefly quarried in the Barda Hills, and is still much prized by both sculptor and builder. The best quarries are at Adityana, near the Station of Ranawao on the Porbandar State Railway at about 10 miles distance from Porbandar. Valuable granophytes and other massive rock suitable for both building purposes and road metalling also exist in considerable quantity in the Barda district of the State. The Hindu Temples at Visavada and Madhavpur are of considerable interest to antiquarians. Porbandar, the chief town, is connected with the Kathiawar Railway system. It is the air terminus of the Bombay Kathiawar Service of the Air services of India Ltd. It is a famous and busy port on the Western Coast of Kathiawar, trading directly with Burma, Busrah, Persian Gulf, Africa, Europe and the chief ports of India. It is also a town of much sanctity formerly known as "Sudamapuri" and is generally included in the Dwarka pilgrimage by devout Hindu pilgrims. The Willingdon Marina at Porbandar and the Khambhala House, 16 miles from the Capital, are unique works of modern architecture and art. The coast tracts offer special facilities for the cultivation of cocoanuts.

Porbandar ghee (clarified butter) has a great reputation and a ready sale both in India and Africa. Porbandar offers special facilities for the timber trade and is also an important industrial centre in Kathiawar. There is a fully equipped Cement Factory, belonging to the Associated Cement Companies Ltd., situated on the creek to the west of the town. The Maharana Spinning and Weaving Mill came into being in November 1934. It is equipped with 18,332 spindles and 324 looms in addition to which there are 200 looms for the manufacture of artificial silk. There are several cotton ginning factories in the State and two Cotton Presses in Porbandar. The Nadir Salt Works established in 1931 have been successful in putting the best and the finest salt on the market of Bengal comparing favourably with the best Aden varieties. Their annual exports to Bengal are over 30,000 tons. There is an Oil Mill and several Flour Mills in the town. The Natwar Match Works and the Natwarsinhji Hosiery Works have been recently established. There are also floor tiles, silverware and other modern manufacturing industries in the town. The Imperial Bank of India has a branch at Porbandar.

RATNAGIRI.

A British District in the Konkan or Southern Division of the Bombay Province. It is bounded on the North by the Native State of Janjira and the Kolaba District; on the East by Satara District and the Native State of Kolhapur; on the South by the Sawantwadi State and the Portuguese possessions of Goa; and on the West by the Arabian Sea. The District may be described generally as rocky and rugged. Near the coast it consists of a bare elevated plateau, intersected by numerous creeks and navigable rivers flowing between steep hills. These rivers have along their banks the chief seaports and almost all the fertile land of the District. Ten miles or so inland the country becomes more open; but advancing a little farther, it is occupied by spurs of the Sahyadri Hills. This range itself forms the continuous eastern boundary, running parallel to the coast, at distances varying from 30 to 45 miles. It varies in height from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, though some of the peaks attain an altitude of 4,000 feet. Whilst the banks of the rivers produce fine crops of rice in the rains, and of pulse in the cold weather and some of the inland valleys exhibit the utmost fertility, the soil is, as a rule, poor and barren, and supports with difficulty its dense population, a large proportion of whom migrate to Bombay in the fair season. Ratnagiri, the headquarters town, is open and faces the sea. There is no railway connection, and communication is by steamer with Bombay and by motor with Kolhapur 82 miles away. Population of the District is 13,02,527.

SATARA.

A District in the Central Division of the Bombay Province. It is bounded on the North by the States of Bhore and Phaltan; on the South by the River Varna, separating it from Kolhapur and Sangli States; on the East by Sholapur District and the States of the Pant Pratinidhi and the Chief of Jath; and on the West by the Sahyadri Hills, separating it from the Districts of Kolaba and Ratnagiri. Area, 4,910 square miles; population, 1,179,712. Language spoken—Marathi. From Mahabaleshwar in the north-west corner of the District, 4,717 feet above the sea, start two hill ranges of equal height and nearly at right angles to each other—one the main range of the Sahyadri running towards the south and forming the western boundaries of the Districts and the other the Mahadeo range of hills, which, going first in an easterly and then a south-easterly direction, extends towards the eastern boundary, where it sinks gradually into the plain. These hills throw out numerous spurs over the District, forming the valleys of the several streams which make up the head-waters of the Krishna, one of the largest rivers in Western India, except near Mahabaleshwar, and in the valley of the Koyna, the hills of the District are very low and have a strikingly bare and rugged aspect. The soils of the District belong to three main classes—red in the hills and black and light coloured in the plains. The black soil, especially along the valley of the Krishna and its tributaries, is very fertile, yielding two crops a year. The uncertain and scanty rainfall makes that part of the District East of the railway, most likely to suffer from failure of the crops. Satara, the headquarters town, is 10 miles from Satara Road station on the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

Though the district has been industrially backward in the past, there are now two Iron Works; one at Kundal (Aundh State) and one at Satara Road, where farm implements on the Ransom pattern and other articles are manufactured. Besides, there are Glass Works near Karad in the Aundh State. The new bridge over the Krishna will, it is hoped, facilitate trade between Chiplun (Ratnagiri district) and the centres on the M. & S. M. Railway.

Panchgani, a hill station in the district, is well-known for its sanitarium and educational facilities for well-to-do classes.

SAWANTWADI STATE.

Sawantwadi is one of the ancient Mahratta States in Western India. It is a compact territory unbroken by the lands of other States or districts and is about fifty miles long and from 10 to 30 miles broad. The State comprises an area of 930 square miles and is bounded on the north by the Malwan Sub-Division of the Ratnagiri District and is separated by the line of the Sahyadri hills, on the north-east from Kolhapur territory, and on the east and south-east, from the British District of Belgaum. To the south lie the Bicholi and Pedna sub-divisions of the Portuguese territory of Goa, and on the west and north-west the Ratnagiri sub-divisions of Vengurla and Malwan. The general aspect of the country is strikingly picturesque. The population of the Sawantwadi State is 230,589 according to the Census of 1931, out of which 219,386, i.e., 95 per cent. are Hindus, 5,030, i.e., about 2.1 per cent. Mahomedans, 6,068, i.e., 2.6 per cent. Indian Christians and the rest Jains and other Hindus. For administrative purposes, the State is divided into two Pethas viz., Kudal and Banda. The Pethas are in charge of a Kamavisdar. Both the officers are responsible to the Diwan of the State.

The State pays no tribute to the British Government. It is rich in forests of teak especially near the Sahyadri hills—blackwood, ain, kher and jambha. Near the sea the more important trees are the jackwood, mango and bhirand. The principal fruits are mangoes, plantains, citrons, limes and jack fruit. Coconut and cashew-nuts are very plentiful. The staple agricultural produce in the State is rice but the quantity being insufficient for the wants of the people, a good deal is imported from outside. Iron ore of fair quality is found in the neighbourhood of the Ramghat in the Sahyadri Range. The Akeri stone, a slate coloured tale-schist, extremely hard, compact and heavy, is unrivalled for building purposes. The principal sources of income are (1) Land Revenue, (2) Forest and (3) Abkari. The gross revenue based on the average of the five years is Rs. 6,56,439.

The principal industries of the State consist of gold and silver embroidery work on both leather and cloth, fans, baskets and boxes of kas-kas grass ornamented with gold thread and beetle wings; lacquered toys and playing cards, and elegant drawing-room ornaments carved from the horn of the buffalo and bison.

SHOLAPUR.

A District in the Deccan, Bombay Province, except Barsi taluka, which is surrounded by the Nizam's territory. Sholapur is bounded on the North by Ahmednagar District, on the East by the Nizam's Dominions and Akalkot State; on the South by Bijapur District and the Jath and Miraj (Senior) States; and on the West by Satara, Poona and Ahmednagar Districts, and the States of Phaltan and Aundh. The District generally is flat and undulating. Most of the surface rolls in long low uplands separated by hollows, with an occasional level. The shallow soiled uplands are suitable for pasture and the deep-soiled lowlands, under careful tillage, yield the richest crops. From time to time the District suffers severely from drought, to which its situation and the treeless surface of the country expose it. The Imperial Council of Agricultural Research has, therefore, recently opened at Mulegaon, a village about 4 miles to the east of Sholapur, a Dry Farming Research Station and experiments are being made there on the Jowar, which is the staple food of this District. A committee, consisting of both the officials as well as the non-officials, called the Village Improvement Committee, with which the District Scout Association has linked its activities, has also been established under the District Local Board Act, to render help to the cultivators and villagers in this District and to educate them in subjects closely connected with their life and profession.

Sholapur town, the headquarters of the District, is a station on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway. There is a fine old fort and a travellers' bungalow. There are also District Scout and Ambulance Headquarters.

SURAT.

A British District in Gujarat, Bombay Province, with an area of 1,662 square miles. It is bounded on the North by Broach District and Baroda territory, on the East by the States of Baroda, Rajpipla, Bansda and Dharampur, on the South by Thana District and the Portuguese territory of Daman, and on the West by the Arabian Sea. Surat District consists of wide, alluvial plain, stretching between the Dang Hills and the coast, from the Kim River on the North to Damanganga on the South—a distance of about 80 miles. Much of the soil is rich and very fertile, but the western border of the District consists of less fruitful lands. Surat, the chief town and administrative headquarters, is situated on the south bank of the Tapti River and 10 miles from the sea. During the 17th and 18th centuries Surat ranked as the chief export and import centre of India. After the assumption of the entire Government by the British in 1800, prosperity, which had deserted the town towards the end of last century, reappeared; but the steady transfer of trade to Bombay, combined with the famine in 1813 in Northern Gujarat, continued to undermine its commercial importance. Though now overshadowed by Bombay, it is still the centre of a brisk trade.

Besides being noteworthy historically, Surat was the principal centre of handicrafts in the whole of the province and in spite of the fact that it has witnessed numerous ups and downs at various stages, it has succeeded in standing unshaken against those inroads and it still commands its supremacy in the field of skilled crafts. Nearly half the population of the town depends on handicrafts. The jari work, laces, silk and jari brocades, embroidery, ivory and sandalwood inlay work of varakh-nakashi and ivory bangles are the major handicrafts for which Surat is still famous not only throughout India but even outside India. Today France is the main rival of the Surat jari work and laces, but the local crafts are competent enough to vie with their foreign competitor. The taluka of Olpad is particularly famous for its knives and nutcrackers. It contains many interesting memorials of the days of John Company, especially the tombs of the early European residents. The population of Surat is approximately 1,50,000 while that of the district excluding Surat is near 6,00,000.

THANA.

A British District in the Bombay Presidency. Area, 3,434 square miles, it is bounded on the north by the Portuguese territory of Daman and the Surat District; on the east by the Districts of Nasik, Ahmednagar and Poona; on the south by the Bombay Suburban District; and on the west by the Arabian Sea. Thana consists of a distinct strip of low land, intersected by hilly tracts rising to elevations of from 100 to 2,500 feet. Along the whole line of the Coast the soil is fertile, and the villages are exceedingly populous. In the North-East the hills are covered with wood and the valleys but partially cultivated. The villages are seldom more than scattered hamlets of huts, and the population consists mainly of uncivilised aboriginal tribes, many of whom still wander from place to place as they find water to suit their fancy. Inland the District is well watered and well wooded. Except in the North-East, where much of it rises in large plateau, the country is a series of flat low-lying rice tracts, broken by well-marked ranges of hills. A considerable trade in firewood is carried on with Bombay; the sea fisheries are productive, and there is a lucrative salt industry. The Christians of Salsette and Bassein, a very strong community, are the descendants of the converts of St. Francis Xavier. Thana, the chief town, 21 miles North of Bombay, is a station on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway. The fort, the Portuguese Cathedral, a few carved and inscribed stones, and several reservoirs are now the only signs that it was once an important city. There is a good travellers' bungalow. Bassein, on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway, contains famous ruins of the Portuguese dominion in Salsette. For Bandra and Pali Hill, growing Suburbs of Bombay, see Bandra Street Directory.

WADHWAN.

Wadhwan State, in the Western India States Agency, lies between 71° and 72° North and 22° and 23° East with an area of 242.6 square miles. It is bounded on the north by the territory of Dhrangadhra, on the south by the territory of Chuda and Limbdi and by the Dhandhuka Taluka of Ahmedabad District, on the east by Limbdi State and on the west by Muli and Sayla territory. The country is compact, and irrigated to some extent. The climate is hot but healthy. The annual rainfall averages about 20 inches.

The soil is black or light, in about equal proportion. Cotton and the usual grains are grown. Country soap which is largely used by the people of Kathiawar and Gujarat, is the chief article of manufacture, but weaving and dyeing are also carried on and there are four Ginning Factories, two Cotton Presses and one Ice Factory in Wadhwan city and six small Ginning Factories are in the District. The produce of the State once exported from the Port of Dholera, now goes by rail.

Wadhwan City is fortified and the Chief's Palace, an imposing building when seen at a distance, occupies a commanding position in the southern portion of the town. It is the main entrepot for the cotton trade of Jhalawad and contains a wealthy community of merchants. A large import trade is also carried on in grain and cotton stuffs. The stone cutters and quarry men are also skilled workmen.

Wadhwan State was founded in about A.D. 1630 by Rajoji, the son of Prathiraj, the eldest son of Raja Chandrasinhji of Halvad. It has acquired modern importance from the junction of Wadhwan Branch of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway with the Bhavnagar, Morvi and Dhrangadhra lines. The Wadhwan Civil Station, which is the headquarters of the Political Agent, Eastern Kathiawar Agency, is established on a plot of land leased from the Wadhwan State.

There is a temple of the celebrated Ranak Devi, consort of Rai Khengar of Junagadh, and an old step-well called Madhavav in Wadhwan City.

The Civil Station and the City are connected by Railway as well as by a good metalled road on which there is a Motor Tramway Service.

At Dudhrej, about two miles from the Civil Station, is a flourishing temple of the Mota Panth, a sect almost exclusively for the Rabaris (shepherds).

The population of the State is 42,602, and Revenue Rs. 6,00,000.
